Maybe it could be more visually friendly if adding the colour code of the RIBA stages to the cells because people are familiar with these colours. Also the colour code of the WG Future Generations Act could be used for the goals titles because of the same reason.	Yes;
5	3/25/21 15:17:51	3/25/21 15:59:24	anonymous		Blaenau County Borough Council;	01.03.21 – an introduction to the FG Directory ;	Little knowledge;	Good knowledge;	Switching to 4 project stages: Feasibility, Design, Construction, Operation;	No;	It's overly complex, overly onerous and I suspect won't be used (or used properly) by many authorities because the volume of data to be collected is very significant.  Although it is proposed that data already held will be used. I suspect that actually it isn't. Even entry of that amount of existing data into some kind of centralised repository will be time-consuming and onerous, for something for which the purpose and proposed methodology are not critical.  Compared with a theoretical minimal requirement of 7 paragraphs of narrative text, the proposed format is very much OTT.  There is a lack of clarity in terms of responsibility for gathering data at different stages, and assumption that those collecting the data understand the RIBA work stages.	Blaenau Gwent definitely will not use it in its current form, and we have a much larger technical resource base than most authorities. We won't even offer to operate it as a pilot.	Yes;

I had a brief chat with my project team earlier today and it would be good to add a lessons learnt or amends sheet so that if areas aren't met then others can be added that demonstrate a different/better approach.
